Children are not only the hope of our future, but an essential part of our present society.

The gifts of all children should be nurtured and cherished.

Children and families with added stressors and problems need additional help and support.

Early intervention and prevention will enable children to become healthier and happier adults.

Respect will be a common element in interpersonal communication among staff, board and all customers.

Children’s Aid Society is committed to helping children and their families build stronger, healthier lives through compassionate and professional services.

CAS Core Values
Dear Friends,

Have you seen the disturbing media coverage about the abuse and neglect of children? “But what can we do?” people ask.

What can we do? We must take a stand!

It must be every child’s absolute right to be free from abuse and neglect. It does not matter who is responsible for this deplorable act, we must do everything in our power to prevent, report and ultimately help the most vulnerable among us, our children.

Since its inception in 1913, Children’s Aid Society (CAS) Southern PA District Church of the Brethren has done an exceptional job of adapting its services to meet the needs of children in each generation. Initially providing foster care in private homes, then operating an orphanage, today Children’s Aid Society continues to meet the needs of at-risk children and families. Despite the adversity and challenges that are bound to occur over 100 years, CAS has and continues to stay committed to the mission of helping children and their families build stronger, healthier lives through compassionate and professional services.

This rich history was substantiated this year when CAS received the 2012 Central Penn Parent Healthcare Hero award. This children’s health advocate award from Central Penn Parents Magazine honors “providers who are heroes to our families” and “have made a difference in the lives of many families”

CAS services continue to drive our mission. The 40,650 hours of service provided to children and families during 2011-2012 are the greatest number of service hours provided in CAS history! And this is not just a one-year increase. Service hours have increased in each of the last three years -- services provided regardless of a family’s ability to pay.

As proud leaders of this organization, we are honored to be at the helm at this significant juncture in the life of Children’s Aid Society. In September 2012 we begin a year-long celebration of a milestone many not-for-profits can only hope for:

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF SERVICE TO CHILDREN AND FAMILIES!

As we prepare for our next 100 years, we ask you to join us as we pay tribute to the ministry of our founders in the Southern Pennsylania District Church of the Brethren, of past and present trustees, staff, volunteers, donors, and all of our CAS family who have forged ahead to establish and maintain a quality program. We look forward to your partnership as CAS moves into a second century of service.

Warm Regards,

Christian Miller                                                Robert A. Witt

Being a grandmother can be much more these days…for Emma, it means caring for 3 grandchildren she didn’t expect to care for and becoming a parent again later in life. Emma wanted a safe place and sought out the art therapy services at Children’s Aid Society to help her 3 grandchildren adjust to the changes that the family was going through. Using art and play, the art therapists were able to help Emma’s 3 grandchildren express memories of their family and the loss they felt. Through parent sessions with the art therapists, Emma was able to learn about behaviors and suggested techniques for children who have experienced loss. As Emma’s understanding grew and the children’s trust grew, the family was able to deal with the realization that the children could not return to their parent’s home.

For one family at Children’s Aid Society the art therapist was the lifeline to getting support for Lisa and her family. A few months ago, Lisa’s mother thought something was wrong….Lisa’s behaviors at home were just not the same. Lisa was acting a lot younger lately. Through an assessment with the art therapist using art therapy and play therapy, Lisa was found to have been the victim of sexual abuse. Lisa and her family are now getting the support of in home services to help the family with Lisa’s behaviors and trauma. Lisa continues in art therapy to help her heal from her trauma.

Names have been changed to protect their identity.
